Project

C/C++ MATH Formula Viewer – VScode Extension
Personal Project — Dec.2019 – Jan.2020
We can use useful mathematical functions in C/C++ by including `math.h` or `cmath` library. However, it is hard to recognize the full functionality of the function at a glance if the function call is deep and complex. Therefore, I developed VScode extension which parses the math function and its arguments recursively and hovers the generated Unicode-style math formula. Refer Github Repository for the detail, and check the product in the marketplace.

BCRiders – Blockchain-based Delivery Platform
POSTECH-YONSEI SNS Program — Jun.2019 – Jul.2019

I developed web service, which efficiently, safely provides online food delivery and review system with the undergraduate students from Yonsei University. We used the blockchain and smart contract functionality supported by Ethereum. Refer Github Repository for the detail. (Advisor: Prof. James Wonki Hong)

Vivim – Nice, Convenient vim plugin for IntelliJ IDEA
Started from POSTECH Software Design Methods (CSED332) term project Sep.2019 – Current
I developed a convenient, simple, easy-to-use vim plugin that can be used in IntelliJ IDEA. The goal of the product is to eliminate unnecessary complexity of the original vim editor/plugin, and to improve the productivity of code generation. Now preparing to release. Refer Github Repository for the detail.
